

Comparing Baby Gear

When choosing baby gear to welcome home your new little one, you have many options. While some of these items are required by law, others are not. Therefore, choosing between high, middle and low cost models becomes an investigation to make the best decision for your needs and budget. There are pros and cons to every choice. Use the internet to compare high, middle, and low cost versions of the below gear and then complete the questions that follow. Create a visual of the models you are comparing in a WORD document as you will need to refer back to them later.
